

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An LED drive circuit having reduced power consumption has a constant current generating circuit for driving a plurality of LEDs and at least one switch connected to a respective LED for periodically turning on and off the respective LED at a rate higher than a visual perception rate to reduce power consumption.